Understanding 7 Star BASIX

BASIX stands for Building Sustainability Index. It is a sustainability assessment tool for residential buildings in NSW. BASIX aims to reduce the environmental impact of new homes by requiring them to meet certain minimum standards for the below criteria:

- ENERGY EFFICIENCY: BASIX has defined energy targets for newly constructed homes to lower household greenhouse gas emissions.
- THERMAL COMFORT AND LOADS: BASIX evaluates the effectiveness of heating and cooling methods in your home to ensure year-round comfort.
- WATER EFFICIENCY: BASIX water targets are designed to curtail water consumption within your residence, leading to both reduced water usage and lower water bills.

BASIX requirements apply to all residential dwelling types in NSW and form part of the development application process.

Energy efficiency in your new home

Prior to 1st October 2023, the required energy rating for new homes was 5.5 stars, this has now increased to 7 stars.

BASIX thermal performance standards are designed to limit the amount of heating needed in Winter and cooling needed in Summer, limiting the amount of energy your home uses. There are a number of factors that will impact the thermal performance and energy efficiency of your home. The size, orientation of your home and its climate zone, will all influence what is required to reach the new 7 star rating. With that in mind the solution required will be unique to each build, however at MOJO Homes we have included a range of items as standard to help you achieve a 7 star standard on your home.
